PART 1: HOW TO USE THIS HOOK LIBRARY

What is a Hook?

A hook is the first sentence of your tweet or thread that determines whether people stop scrolling or keep moving. It's the difference between 50 impressions and 50,000 impressions. Great hooks tap into psychological triggers like curiosity, urgency, controversy, and relatability to make your content impossible to ignore.

The 3-Step Method

Step 1: Pick a Hook -- Browse this library and choose a hook that fits your topic and goal. Each hook is proven to generate engagement.

Step 2: Customize It -- Fill in the blanks with your specific topic, numbers, or experience. Make it authentic to your voice and niche.

Step 3: Post and Track -- Use it in your content, then track performance in the Bonus #3 tracker to discover what works best for YOUR audience.

5 Pro Tips for Maximum Hook Impact

1. Test Different Hook Types: If curiosity hooks aren't working, try pain point hooks. Different audiences respond to different triggers.
2. Use Specific Numbers: "I tested 47 hooks" beats "I tested many hooks." Specific numbers build credibility and curiosity.
3. Match Hook to Content: Your hook must deliver on its promise. If your hook promises a revelation, your content must reveal something specific.
4. Time Your Posts: Use the Bonus #2 cheat sheet to post when your audience is most active. Even the best hooks fail at the wrong time.

5. Track Everything: Use the performance tracker to identify your top 20% of hooks. Double down on what works for your specific audience.

PART 3: 25 HOOK FORMULAS -- FILL IN THE BLANK

Formula 1: "I [VERB] [NUMBER] [NOUN]. Here's the [ADJECTIVE] [NOUN]:"

Example A: "I analyzed 1,000 viral tweets. Here's the surprising pattern:"

Example B: "I tested 47 different hooks. Here's the clear winner:"

How to use: Replace the bracketed words with your specific action, number, and outcome. This formula works because it combines concrete action with curiosity.

Formula 2: "The [NUMBER] [ADJECTIVE] [NOUN] that will [VERB] your [NOUN]:"

Example A: "The 3 deadly mistakes that will destroy your engagement:"

Example B: "The 7 simple habits that will transform your morning routine:"

How to use: Use this for warning or promise content. The number creates specificity, while the threat or promise creates urgency.

Formula 3: "Stop [VERB-ING] [NOUN]. Start [VERB-ING] [NOUN] instead."

Example A: "Stop posting randomly. Start strategically instead."

Example B: "Stop chasing vanity metrics. Start building real connections instead."

How to use: Perfect for contrarian content or strategy corrections. Creates immediate conflict and curiosity about your alternative.

Formula 4: "[ADJECTIVE] [NOUN]: I [VERB] [NUMBER] [NOUN] in [TIMEFRAME]."

Example A: "Brutal truth: I wasted 5 years on Twitter before figuring this out."

Example B: "Shocking discovery: I found 12 viral patterns after studying 10,000 tweets."

How to use: The emotional adjective hooks attention, while the personal experience creates credibility and curiosity.

Formula 5: "If you're [VERB-ING] [NOUN], you're [VERB-ING] it wrong."

Example A: "If you're trying to grow on Twitter, you're doing it wrong."

Example B: "If you're building an audience, you're thinking about it wrong."

How to use: Direct challenge that creates defensiveness, which leads to curiosity. Use sparingly for maximum impact.

Formula 6: "The [ADJECTIVE] [NOUN] nobody [VERB-s] about [TOPIC]:"

Example A: "The silent killer nobody talks about in productivity:"

Example B: "The hidden opportunity nobody mentions about Twitter growth:"

How to use: Creates exclusive information feeling. Works best for insider knowledge or contrarian takes.

Formula 7: "I [PAST VERB] [NUMBER] [NOUN]. Let me [VERB] you [NUMBER] [NOUN]."

Example A: "I lost 500 followers overnight. Let me show you 3 lessons."

Example B: "I made $10,000 in one week. Let me teach you 5 strategies."

How to use: Vulnerability + value proposition. The failure or success creates credibility, the offer creates curiosity.

Formula 8: "Why [NUMBER]% of [NOUN] [VERB] (and how to [VERB])"

Example A: "Why 97% of Twitter accounts fail to grow (and how to succeed)"

Example B: "Why 80% of startups fail in year one (and how to survive)"

How to use: Statistical authority + problem-solution framework. The specific percentage adds credibility.

Formula 9: "The [NUMBER]-step [NOUN] to [VERB] [ADJECTIVE] [NOUN]:"

Example A: "The 5-step framework to build viral threads instantly:"

Example B: "The 3-part system to create content people actually share:"

How to use: Promise of systematic solution. People love frameworks they can follow step-by-step.

Formula 10: "[NUMBER] [NOUN] that [VERB] me [ADJECTIVE] [NOUN]:"

BONUS #1: AI HOOK GENERATOR -- 5 PROMPTS

Prompt 1: Niche-Specific Hook Generator

"Act as a Twitter growth expert specializing in [YOUR NICHE]. Generate 10 viral hooks specifically for [YOUR NICHE] that address the biggest pain points, misconceptions, and desires of this audience. Each hook should be under 280 characters, use proven viral patterns (controversy, curiosity, urgency), and be tailored to [YOUR NICHE] terminology and community inside jokes. Focus on hooks that would make someone stop scrolling and immediately want to read more."

Prompt 2: Topic-Based Hook Generator

"I'm creating content about [SPECIFIC TOPIC] for Twitter. Generate 15 different hook variations that approach this topic from unique angles: contrarian views, personal stories, data-driven insights, how-to guides, controversial opinions, and curiosity gaps. For each hook, explain which psychological trigger it uses (curiosity, controversy, urgency, social proof) and suggest the best format (single tweet vs thread opener). Make every hook punchy and scroll-stopping."

Prompt 3: Tweet-to-Hook Transformer

"Take this existing tweet: '[PASTE YOUR TWEET HERE]'. Generate 10 improved hook versions that make the same core point but with different angles: make it more controversial, add specific numbers, create stronger curiosity, use better formatting, add emotional stakes, and incorporate viral patterns. For each variation, explain what makes it stronger than the original and which type of audience it would resonate with most."

Prompt 4: Thread Opener Generator

"I'm writing a Twitter thread about [THREAD TOPIC] that teaches people [MAIN LESSON]. Generate 12 thread opener hooks that grab attention immediately and make people want to read the entire thread. Include different hook types: the 'I discovered something shocking' approach, the 'mistake I made' angle, the 'contrarian truth' frame, the 'step-by-step promise' hook, and the 'numbered list' curiosity gap. Each hook should naturally lead into thread content."

Prompt 5: Sales/Promotional Hook Generator

"I'm promoting [PRODUCT/SERVICE/OFFER] on Twitter. Generate 15 hooks that sell without being overly promotional. Use soft-sell approaches like problem-agitation-solution frames, transformation before/after hooks, social proof and case study angles, limited-time urgency builders, and value-stacking approaches. Each hook should focus on benefits over features, address objections indirectly, and create desire without sounding salesy. Include hooks for different stages: awareness, consideration, and decision."

7 Engagement Hacks

- The 5-Minute Reply Window:* Reply to every comment within 5 minutes of posting for the first hour.
- Thread Teaser Hook:* Post a single tweet first, then reply with the thread. This doubles initial reach.
- Quote Tweet Strategy:* When someone with a larger audience engages, quote tweet their engagement with your thoughts.
- Engagement Bait Questions:* End every thread with a specific question. Comments fuel the algorithm.
- Pinned Thread Rotation:* Pin your best thread, swap every 7-10 days.
- Cross-Platform Teasers:* Post teasers on LinkedIn/Instagram with "Full breakdown on my Twitter."

7. Reply-to-Like Mining: Find tweets going viral in your niche, reply with high-value additions in the first hour.

Thread Structure Template

1. Hook Tweet -- Use one of the 500+ viral hooks. Stop the scroll.
2. Setup (Tweets 2-3) -- Expand on the promise. Build credibility.
3. Value (Tweets 4-8) -- Deliver with numbered lists or steps.
4. Conclusion -- Summarize. Add final insight or twist.
5. CTA -- Follow for more + engagement question.

5 Metrics to Track

1. Engagement Rate: (Likes + Replies + Retweets) / Followers x 100. Good: 2-5%. Viral: 10%+
 2. Follower Growth Rate: New followers / Total followers x 100. Healthy: 5-10% monthly
 3. Thread Completion Rate: People who like the final tweet. Good: 20-30% of initial likes
 4. Reply-to-Like Ratio: Replies / Likes. Healthy: 1:10. Viral: 1:5 or better
 5. Profile Visits per Post: Good: 5-10% of engagement. Great: 15%+

How to Identify Your Top Hooks

After tracking 20+ hooks, look for patterns:

- Which section (Curiosity, Pain, Story, etc.) performs best?
- Do threads or single tweets perform better?
- What time of day gets the highest engagement?
- Do hooks with specific numbers beat general claims?
- Which topics drive the most follower growth?

The 80/20 Rule: 80% of your growth will come from 20% of your hooks. Find those winners and replicate the pattern.
